Effective January 1, 2025:

IRFT Rate Change Process and Background

Per IRFT terms, funds deposited into/loaned out of the IRFT earn interest/incur interest charges at rates determined by the Archdiocese of Denver Management Corporation (Management Corporation). These rates are based on the advice the Management Corporation receives from the IRFT Management Committee and are in relation to the current bank prime lending rate as published in the Wall Street Journal (note: the interest rate on an IRFT loan is adjusted and compounded monthly as of the first day of each month).

This bulletin is being issued based on the Federal Reserve's recent activity impacting the current bank prime lending rate and because of adjustments to both the deposit and loan interest rate spreads. Specifically, at the end of the Federal Reserve's recent committee meeting held on December 18, 2024, the Federal Reserve Board's Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) announced a 0.25% decrease in the target rate for Federal Funds. Thereafter, effective December 19, 2024, in response to FOMC action, banks began announcing an equivalent decrease in the prime rate.²

In addition, during this challenging interest rate environment, the Management Corporation has focused on bringing relief to our borrowers through a lower loan rate while continuing to offer a competitive deposit rate. As a reminder, the IRFT was created to support the Archdiocese of Denver, parishes helping parishes and we are all united in the mission, so that in Jesus Christ all might be rescued and have abundant life for the glory of the Father. As a result, the Management Corporation will continue to hold these previously approved rate adjustments:

	Current Prime Rate
Deposit Rate	Less 375 basis points
Loan Rate	Less 100 basis points

As such, effective January 1, 2025, the IRFT loan and deposit rates are modified as follows: (i) the interest rate charged on IRFT loans will decrease from 6.75% to 6.50%; and (ii) the interest paid on IRFT deposits will decrease from 4.00% to 3.75%.³ The Management Corporation will continue to monitor the changing interest rate environment, where short term interest rates have fallen, with the goal of achieving its threefold objective of 1) offering a competitive rate of interest to depositors, 2) providing an attractive rate with no fees and simplified process to borrowers, and 3) maintaining the financial health and net capital levels of the IRFT.

What to Consider Related to Future Interest Rate Increases?⁴

Future interest rate increases could leave parishes with higher interest costs and loans that do not pay off in the defined loan term, thereby requiring a “balloon payment” at the end of the loan term. Traditionally, the IRFT has fixed the loan payments to allow parishes a stable payment amount to use for planning and budgeting. However, when interest rates rise, parishes will end up paying more interest costs and less of their monthly loan payments will be applied to the loan balances.

² The prime rate is generally the interest rate charged by banks to their most credit-worthy customers.

³ Regarding the IRFT interest rate on deposits, a strategic decision is currently in place that has the IRFT rate of return objective being the same as that of Archdiocesan Short-Term Money Management investments over a full market cycle. That objective is to earn an appropriate rate of return while reducing exposure and risk of losses to a minimal level. Regarding the IRFT, this has translated to an interest rate on IRFT deposits being 375 basis points below the current prime rate (or, effective January 1, 2025, 7.50% - 3.75% = 3.75%).

⁴ Note: The FOMC “. . . seeks to achieve maximum employment and inflation at the rate of 2 percent over the longer run.” See <https://www.federalreserve.gov/newsevents/pressreleases/monetary20241218a.htm>.

Accordingly, with rising interest rates, if parishes do not supplement their loan payment, they will end up owing a potentially large “balloon payment” at the end of the loan term.

It is recommended that parishes meet with their respective finance councils and: 1) consider existing loan terms, balance, and future impact of interest rate increases; 2) plan for rising interest rates within the operating budget; 3) consider increasing monthly loan payments to minimize the potential for a balloon payment; and otherwise, 4) launch a debt retirement fundraising campaign to pay off the loan early.
